

Let the Bountiful Harvest Benefit Our Nation

You Agriculturists who have been so fortunate in reaping a bountiful harvest, spread prosperity—help our nation—back up our army. Don't hoard the money you have made—put it into circulation. Money laid up wrecks industries and with wrecked industries we cannot expect to win our fight for democracy. Do your share to keep business going. Your harvest money invested in goods which are sold by these concerns will not only buy good values, but will keep many factories busy, many men and women employed and our fighting men well supplied.

FRUIT CANNING AS FOOD CONSERVATION

Every thrifty housewife will arrange this summer for the extensive canning of fruits, as a matter of food conservation and the reduction of living cost during the winter months. Fruit is plentiful and comparatively cheap in Utah this year. Sugar, necessary for the proper canning of fruit, has increased so little in cost compared with other staple foods that its use means a saving—it only costs one and a half cents more per quart jar of fruit for sugar today than when this product was at its lowest sale price. The combination of fruit and sugar, such as canned and preserved fruit, offers substantial, necessary food at the minimum of cost today.
